Early elementary school can be a tough time for gifted children. They may have eagerly anticipated the opportunity to go to school and learn, learn, learn. Yet many find themselves out ahead of their age peers wait, wait waiting instead. Further, many socially astute gifted children appear to regress in early elementary school, hiding their strengths in order to better integrate into the regular classroom. Others daydream or take on the role of class clown, just for something to do. What can be done and what should be done to help these gifted and precocious youngsters?

If you have or have had or will have gifted or precocious children in early elementary school, please join us for this brainstorming session. Newenka DuMont, new parent education chair, will be leading our discussion.

Members and non-members welcome. Please bring a cup of your favorite brew and join us for this informative session. For more information, contact geco@arvamont.com
