

Gifted Education Cooperative

Presents

What's Down the Road? Tell Me about Hinsdale Central

Parents, please join us for a panel discussion featuring Michael McGrory (the HCHS principal), Patricia Huebner (HCHS Director of Guidance), several HCHS teachers, and experienced parents.

Tuesday, November 16th, 2010
7-8:30 p.m.

Hinsdale Middle School Commons
100 South Garfield Avenue, Hinsdale

Because the high school district is separate from the elementary district, it may seem confusing and mysterious. The discussion will cover gifted & talented education, but much of the information discussed will apply to any student. Come get your most basic questions answered, including:

- What is an honors class and how do kids qualify?
- What non-athletic opportunities are there for students?
- What does it mean that class rank was eliminated?
- How do the band and music program work? I heard you have to be in marching band to be in any band – is that true?
- How does lunch work with so many kids?
- How many classes can students take? Is there room for electives, or is the college prep track filled with requirements?

This program is for parents of elementary and middle school children who have questions about the high school. It is not specifically for parents of 8th graders about to make the transition to high school, though they are welcome to attend. The HCHS administration is very excited for the chance to communicate with and get to know parents of younger children. The presentation will be followed by a question and answer period.

Questions? Contact geco@arvamont.com
Or call Susan Portland at 630-920-1027.